FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1837.

LIFE IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, Monday, Feb. 27.—This morning, Mr. Canby moved the suspension of the rules, to take up the Harbor Bill. This is a petition day, and a large number of such papers, were piled on the desks of the members; upon that of Mr. Adams, especially, there were piled one above another, six large packages of abolition memorials, containing, as he said, more than twenty thousand signatures; he spoke of the right of petition, and upon this new attempt to deprive the citizens of the exercise of the right, but the appropriation bills must be passed before to-morrow evening, and sent to the Senate, else, according to the rules, they must lay over for future action; so the House suspended the rules, and went into a committee of the whole, and took up the Harbor Bill. After this bill was disposed of, the Civil and Diplomatic appropriation bill was brought up for consideration; on this, Mr. Waddy Thompson proposed an amendment, appropriating a sum to defray the expenses of an ambassador to Texas! he backed up his motion by a set speech laudatory of the struggle of the people of Texas, and galloped all over the history of the world to gain examples of action, in regard to other governments; when he had done all this, and roused our love of liberty, and our desire to see all nations enjoying its blessings, he perorated most pathetically, on our patriotism and public spirit, and called the American Congress to do an act of equity to the Texian nation, demanded by every principle of justice and national love. He was followed by Mr. Mason, of Ohio, in opposition.

It may be, but it is thought it will not be, that this amendment of Mr. Thompson, will be pushed through, as was the Deposit act of Mr. Bell.

Under the rules of the two Houses, no bills can originate after to-morrow, so the House must sit late to-night to finish the appropriation bills within that time.

The Witness Bill.—The bill abolishing all legal distinction between different religious sects—admitting all to that EQUALITY which the framers of the Constitution intended should be enjoyed by all—has been defeated by the WHIG members of our Legislature;—they made it a PARTY MEASURE, and have inscribed INTOLERANCE as the leading motto upon their banner, by rejecting it. Let every liberal-minded man throughout the Commonwealth awake to action upon this subject—let RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE be the watch-word for the next campaign, and those men who would erect an INQUISITION in America, be taught that the principles of LIBERTY are life among her sons, and that they never will bow to oppression, let it come from CHURCH or STATE.

Important Fact.—Several different cities contended for the honor of being the birth place of Homer, and it still remains uncertain to which it truly belongs. The importance of early fixing the native places of great men, by some historical record, is therefore sufficiently evident. Accordingly Mr. Senator Myron Lawrence, in a printed speech, has proclaimed to all the world, that his native State is not Massachusetts, but Vermont. We are rejoiced to hear it; for we had supposed otherwise. This accounts satisfactorily to us, for much of his political course.

He represents Vermont—

"Dear native land, none so blest, none so free; and therefore, doubtless, upon every important question, naturally cries—

"My heart, untrammelled, still returns to thee!" Perhaps it would be well, if his body would return with his heart.

Fact versus Presumption.—The Centinel & Gazette undertakes to apologise for Mr. Myron Lawrence, in relation to his strange report concerning the Nahant Bank, by saying, that he "discreetly" to the report, last winter, in relation to the State Bank, and, therefore, he was probably opposed to the report in favor of the Nahant Bank. This argument is much like others attempted in argument in that paper; especially as they refute it themselves, by a fact, stated in another part of the same page. A few inches from their own paragraph, the editors give the journal of the doings of the Senate, in which the said Lawrence appears conspicuously among the very few years in favor of accepting that report. There were eight years and twenty-seven years.

Missouri.—It is rumored that a serious difficulty has taken place between the Governor of Missouri, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, in consequence of which His Excellency addresses his official communications directly to the members of the House, instead of through their presiding officer. The bill for the expulsion of all foreign bank agencies from that State, has become a law and it is to go into operation on the 1st day of June next, instead of the fifteenth of February, as at first designed.

This is the last day of Gen. Jackson's administration.—GENERAL JACKSON! as brave a Hero, as pure a Statesman, and as honorable a Man, as America has ever known. His boldness and patriotism, his purity and intelligence, raised him to the highest station in military and in civil life;—a Nation's Love, Gratitude, and Sympathy, will follow him to the shades of the Hermitage.

We learn from the N. Y. Express that Forrest's representation of Macbeth at Liverpool, upon his last appearance but one there, is noticed as a masterly portrait of the irate, ambitious and guilty thane: two elaborate, perhaps, and overworked for some who take the simplicity of nature for their standard of excellence; yet distinguished by those exquisite touches which mediocrity can never reach, and which it is the province of genius only to impart.

Common School Convention.—A convention was held at Northampton, on the 15th of February, of persons interested in elevating the character of our common schools. Hon. Isaac C. Bates was President. Dr. Flint of Northampton submitted a new plan for school houses, of which our friend of the Republican speaks highly.

Very Clever.—The American Constellation, printed at Petersburg, Va. in noticing the discontinuance of the publication of the Washington, Sun says—

"Being a whole Constellation itself, the Washington City Sun is respectfully informed that we can dispense with its light."

The Editor of the American Constellation offers five dollars to any individual who will, according to the enumeration table, place, in a line of figures, eleven thousand, eleven hundred and eleven dollars, as preexample $9999.

Something of an advance.—A lot of land near the railroad depot, Vicksburg, Miss., which was purchased a few years ago, for $3000, was lately sold for $500,000!

They are driving away upon their coal mines, at Danville, Va.—the quantity is reported to be inexhaustible, and the quality equal to Liverpool coal.

Mr. William Tucker, of Gloucester, committed suicide, by cutting his throat, on Tuesday morning last.

Graham Disturbance.—Amory Hall and its vicinity was a scene of great excitement yesterday afternoon. Dr. Graham had advertised a repetition of his lecture to ladies exclusively; but in consequence of recent statements in some newspapers, and the circulation of placards, a very general impression was produced, that the lecture was of a grossly indecent character, and therefore a miscellaneous multitude of men and boys assembled to put down Graham, if he attempted to fulfil his purpose of lecturing.

Long before the hour appointed, the door was blocked up by the crowd, but about two hundred females, by great perseverance, worked their way up stairs, where they were followed by a still greater number of the mob. At the upper end of the hall, was an anatomical transparency, with which Dr. Graham intended to illustrate certain portions of his lecture. This some of the females immediately removed. One of the females undertook to say, that Dr. Graham's lecture had been misrepresented. A gentleman rose to reply, and from that moment all was confusion and confusion.

Call after call was made for "Graham!" but he of course did not make his appearance. Now and then a female would rise to speak, but her soft voice would be instantly drowned by the most indescribable and discordant imitations of animals;—there was barking, howling, howlings, yellings, growling, hissing and growling. About four o'clock Mr. City Marshal Parkman forced his way into the Hall, and, gaining a hearing, assured the uproarious assembly that the Doctor would not lecture during the day, and requested them to disperse. When he ceased, he was loudly cheered, but when a female attempted to speak, the notes of the wild beasts were again sounded and prevailed. As soon as the blast subsided, Mr. Parkman requested "the ladies to retire." The female last referred to, then said—"If they are going to his, I, for one, won't move an inch." This declaration of independence was received with a tremendous roar, and cries of "Well done! well done! go it, old woman!" Mr. Parkman again arose, and said—"I will not permit myself to imagine that there are any gentlemen in the hall, and of course no gentleman will interrupt in any way whatever the ladies as they retire!" Several then cried out—"Make way for the ladies! we only want the Doctor!" Room was then accorded to them to depart, which some promptly availed themselves of, but others seemed reluctant to leave. As in flocks of a dozen, at a time, they reached the sidewalk, they were saluted with thundering shouts from the throats of a thousand rioters, ripe for rapine and destruction.

The hall was then closed; Dr. Graham's sign-box over the street entrance taken down, and the City Marshal, in the name of the Mayor, requested the mob to separate, and gradually the scene of tumult resumed its usual tranquility. Had Dr. Graham appeared, we are satisfied from the temper manifested, and from repeated declarations of the rioters, that an exhibition of unlawful violence, and desperate outrage would have occurred, to the great and enduring disgrace of the character of the city. It is an impudent burlesque, for such individuals as generally compose such mobs to pretend, that they have any just or good object in view; but few of them have any conception of what is morally right and wrong. Mobism in all ages has practically repudiated the existence of such a distinction.

Of Dr. Graham's alleged obnoxious lecture, we know nothing but from report; but several of his friends assure us, that it has been entirely misrepresented, and that its character, object and tendency, are praiseworthy.

The miserable and detestable wretches who would promote or engage in a scene like the above, insulting respectable ladies, and attempting to put down a lecturer by mob force, deserve the execration of every good member of Society; and if Marshal Parkman had done his duty he would have gone among them with a sufficient Police to enforce order, instead of being compelled to beg it at the hands of the rioters.

Miss Tree.—Perhaps a duel.—Such an excitement as we have witnessed since the commencement of Miss Tree's engagement, has not probably been known since the abduction of the Sabine in the time of Romulus. Night after night the boxes have exhibited a blaze of "beauty, fashion and intelligence." Grey beards, who never turned out (even their toes) before, turn out now, and pay willing homage to the presiding deity of the scene; youth joins with age in the devotion, and all confess the fascination of the idol. Prose writers who never before felt the influence of the muses, become poetic; and poets are obliged to submit to the circumscription of straight waistcoats. Married men curse their stars, and wish, like Ben Shatterly, that they had been their own fathers, so they might have come into the world twenty years later. Bachelors of long standing repudiate their "shrunken shanks," and scream deliriously for new cosmetics. Bachelors of short standing reckon their incomes and swear "if Man-tua were built of ducats," they would not give her for it. Old maids for once discard their envy, and young maids, with the free-heartedness of youth, protest—

"Their soul's ambition knows no other leader."

Even we have not escaped the soft infection, but have worshipped almost nightly, and possibly at the cost of a bullet in the thorax; for pushing through the crowd at the termination last evening, when should we encounter but Bubbs Doldington, that insufferable punster. "Tight squeezing Bubbs," said we. "Oh yes," said Bubbs, "but whoever goes into a jam, must expect to be compressed into a jelly!" In the excitement of the moment we could not avoid, as he stepped down stairs, applying our foot to that portion of his frame which prejudice has, we think, somewhat unwarrantably sanctified; the consequences are in the hands of destiny and Marshal Parkman.

The Point settled.—Poindexter, out of all patience with an obituary notice published of him, by one of his whig friends, has finally undertaken to prove, 1st, that he is not dead;—2d, that he did not run away from Virginia in debt;—and 3dly and lastly, that his character is free from any defect of moral rectitude!

The following is his account of the accident which came so near depriving society of so estimable a man:—

"It may not be amiss to explain to you the manner in which I was led into the mistake of passing through an upper door, which opened on the back pavement below, without being protected by a balcony or gallery. This was a new building, with which I was entirely unacquainted, having never been in it before. I spent a short time with a friend, who occupied a room in this new part of the house, and, wishing to retire without a guide, I approached the door through which I fell, supposing it to be the entrance on a gallery, which led to my own apartment. I opened it with confidence, in the darkness of the night, and was immediately precipitated a distance of about twenty feet, breaking the bone of my right leg in two places, straining my ankle, and breaking the bone of the left leg just above the knee. I am now fast recovering from these wounds, which at first were deemed to be beyond the reach of surgical aid, and my attending physicians (Doctors Hogg and Gimes) are of opinion, that in the course of a few months, I shall be able to walk with my usual strength."

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Thursday, March 2.—In the Senate, the bill relating to certain Courts in Lowell, was taken up in the Senate to-day. The bill provides that on condition of the city of Lowell paying to the County Commissioners for the county of Middlesex, the sum of $10,000, to be applied for the erection of a jail in Lowell, and to finish the Court-room with suitable appointments for the safe-keeping of prisoners. On the fulfillment of these provisions, the term of the Supreme Judicial Court and Court of Common Pleas, now holden at Concord, shall be holden at Lowell.

The bill was amended and passed to a third reading. In the House, the great question which has engrossed the attention of the House for the last week was settled this morning. The question on the passage of the Witness bill was taken by yeas and nays, and decided in the negative, Yeas 164, Nays 325.

It was ordered, on motion of Mr. King, of Danvers, that the committee on Banks and Banking be instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing by law that no Bank in this Commonwealth shall have owing to it, at any one time, by any one of its Directors, a larger amount than one tenth part of its capital.

Two petitions were presented on the subject of Slavery, and referred.

Mr. Lee, of Templeton, from the committee to whom were referred a petition of Francis Jackson, and others, together with 64 other petitions, severally praying the Legislature of Massachusetts, to protest against a resolution passed in the House of Representatives of the United States, on the 18th January last, in relation to petitions on the subject of Slavery, and to whom were also referred a petition of R. H. Leavitt, and others, together with 10 other petitions praying the Legislature to instruct the Senators, and request the Representatives of this State in Congress, to endeavor to procure the abolition of Slavery in the Slave Trade in the District of Columbia, and also a petition of Samuel E. Sewell, and others, on the subject of Slavery, made a Report accompanied by a Preamble and Resolutions, in relation to the several subjects referred to therein. The report was read and made the order of the day, to-morrow, and ordered to be printed.

A report on the subject of the Bedford Elections, concluding that the same is void, was read.

Mr. Winthrop moved an indefinite postponement of the report, but before the question was taken the House adjourned.

For the Boston Morning Post.

Mr Editor.—Permit me through the columns of your paper to call the attention of the heads of the Fire Department of the neighboring cities and towns to a new Patent Engine Torch manufactured by Holmes and Hemmenway of this city. I have been a member of the Fire Department for 8 or 9 years, and have experienced a good deal of inconvenience in carrying a torch to the fire by the oil overflowing through the screw, and leaking on my clothes, and I am not the only one that has experienced this city being lit on trial, and I believe there is not an instance in which they have not given entire satisfaction, and as the expense is but a trifle more than the old ones are, they will in one month save the difference in oil, not to say anything about the clothes that would be spoiled in the same time by the old ones now in use. They have been to great trouble and expense to get the torch to perfection and the patent right secured, and I learn it is their intention to get agents in the principal cities for the sale of them. One of the torches can be seen at the Engineer's office, City Hall.

The attack upon Mr. Graham in a penny paper called the Herald, is a vile and infamous libel, as insulting to the respectable ladies who have attended his lectures, as it is destitute of decency and truth. The stupid clan who manage this paltry concern, possess neither sense, discretion, nor experience; and are as unsuitable to have charge of a daily press—let it be ever so insignificant—as a child is to be trusted with a torch.

A passenger in the Mail Coach from New Haven, informs us that the body of a man who had been killed the night previous was found on Wednesday afternoon in a field near Fairhaven, Conn.; supposed to be a physician named Bradley, who resided a bout five miles from that place. The murderers had not been discovered when our informant left.

Miss Tree's benefit—her first one in Boston—is announced for this evening at the Tremont—it is unnecessary to urge people to go, but proper to caution them against getting their heads broke, in contending for tickets.

"The Mother's Farewell," we shall publish to-morrow.

Distressing Intelligence.—Letters received on Wednesday, from Manila, by the owners of the ship Augustus, Lang, (late George W. Lanson,) of this port, state that the ship arrived at Manila Oct. 23d, from the Fegee Islands.

On her passage from the Fegees, the Augustus touched at the Caroline Islands, to trade with the natives, and remain two or three days. As Capt. Lanson with a boat's crew, were leaving the island for the last time (the ship being underweigh, ready for sea,) they were attacked by a party of natives; one of them came behind Capt. Lanson, and struck him with a club, killing him instantly, and the others discharged a shower of arrows at the men in the boat, wounding four of them severely. The schooner Albion, (tender to the Augustus, and commanded by Mr. Lakeman, her chief officer) was supposed to be totally lost, with her officers and crew, among the Fegee Islands, previous to the sailing of the Augustus.—Salem Register.

POLICE COURT.—Shoplifting.—Two women were arrested by Constable Holden, upon two charges, preferred by Mr. Hammond, and by Mr. Slade in Hanover street. On the first, Miranda Hanson was accused of stealing a piece of silk, worth $30.00. She was seen to put it under her cloak. Sophronia Wind was accused of affording Miranda "aid and comfort," in the larceny, but the evidence did not quite come up to the mark, and she was discharged, and took herself off as swift as the wind, without stopping to take a bundle which actually belonged to her. The fair Miranda was not so lucky; for, in addition to Mr. Hammond's silk, Mr. Slade's calico was also found upon her. Committed to jail for trial.

A Man of Business.—Benjamin Rathbun, the great Buffalo defaulter and forger, publishes an address to the public, occupying five and a half columns in one of the large papers of that city, relative to his business and its unfortunate termination. Amongst other matter he gives a statement of his agents, overseers, foremen, &c. from which it appears he had employed in his various operations 11 general agents; 9 superintendents; 46 foremen; 2 architects; 1 measurer of lumber; 1 teller; 2 book keepers; 1 paymaster of mechanics; 5 head clerks, and about 40 under clerks. Under these superintendents, &c., he had in his employ about 2000 operatives; and he states his daily disbursements to have been not less than $10,000.—There is scarcely a branch of business of any kind, in which he was not engaged, besides which, he kept four of the largest stores in the western country—two dry goods, one or carpets, and one of groceries, provisions, hard ware, &c. in each of which he had from 6 to 9 clerks.—N. Y. Sun.

The Common Council, last evening, contrary to the express letter of the City Charter, and the opinion of the City Solicitor, and the report of the Committee on Elections, resolved, that a Ward meeting may adjourn beyond the period of three days, to fill a vacancy in the Ward's delegation in the Council. This was done to fix Mr. Battles, the whig member of Ward 3, firmly in his seat.

AMERICAN MONTHLY MAGAZINE.
The publishers of the American Monthly Magazine have the pleasure to announce that an arrangement has been made with ROBERT M. BIRD, Esq., of Philadelphia, to become an associate editor, with Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Benjamin. The work will henceforth be published, as before, on the first day of every month in New York by George Dearborn & Co., 38 Gold street; in Philadelphia by T. Catell Clarke, 80 Second street; in Boston by Otis, Brothers & Co., 147 Washington street.
The arrangement with Dr. Bird will bring not only the aid of his own pen, but that of many other valuable contributors to the Magazine.
The publishers of the American Monthly Magazine have ever desired to make their work worthy of the countenance and favor which will best enable them to carry out their objects to an influential extent—to give the work a broad American Character, so that, as a legitimate representation of national thought and feeling, and not the organ of a mere section of country, it may enlist the good will of men of taste and talent in all parts of the United States.
To this end, arrangements are in progress, for enlisting the aid of contributors in every section of the Union.
Among other matters of interest to appear in the Magazine, will be a series of papers on some of the great natural curiosities of the West—illustrated by drawings and engraving, and expressly for the Magazine.
Orders for the work to be addressed to either of the publishers. Terms, five dollars per annum—with liberal discount to agents. mh3
